The Testimony of Christ is Complete

The Will and Testament of Christ is complete.

It was Christ who said "I go to the Father and you see Me again no more", who also said "follow Me that where I am, you may be also". That "we once knew Christ according to the flesh, but henceforth know we Him that way no more". And that we are instructed to "put off the body of the sins of the flesh", and not so much the flesh itself but the aspects of the flesh that are antagonistic to the reality of "spirit and truth". For it is "the law of the spirit of life in Christ that sets us free from the law of sin and death". We say this so as NOT to bludgeon the physical body. No, for that is the innocent bi-stander but the body of the sins of the flesh is a body of beliefs and principals or lack thereof. That is what we must put off as substandard to the things of God, in exchange for the truth. That we are to "be ye renewed in the spirit of your minds" as something that precedes and supersedes our carnal experience. That we can have both lives simultaneously, where the fleshes demands have been squelched. And that it is "the law of the spirit of life in Christ that has set us free from the law of sin and death", and not some second coming or end of a physical life experience when we get our goods. That is the slothful stewards approach that said "my master delays his coming". For we each are responsible for what we do in the here and now because we have been given a way to overcome, so there are no excuses. This is the true gospel of salvation. And the proof that it is now is that the price was paid, the New Will and Testament is NOW in force. And like all inheritences, they are in effect upon the death of the testator and not some 2 thousand years later as most suppose. That we have access to "everything that pertains to life and god-li-ness by way of the knowledge (of knowing) Christ who has called us to glory and virtue", in the spirit of our minds.

This is our inheritance as a result of the death of Christ. Yes He rose too to show us that He overcame. But He only did that because there was no other way. Even as He prayed in the garden. "Father if there is any other way". All He had to do is to look at those saved by the Old Law Covenant and concur that "there is none righteous, no not one....

The Testimony of Christ which God gave His servants of things which must shortly take place." Was not to be a long drawn out process. If it was, the gospel would NOT be complete.

It was the message first spoken by the Son of God inviting us to "The Kingdom of God at hand", as a testimony that replaced the Law era that "shortly took place because it took place and happened to them back then. And this testament is irreversible, un-expire-able, irrevocable eternal and always "at hand". It is "The Kingdom from before the foundations of the world, indicating what it is not. And what it will not be is time sensitive or location specific, because God and His things are not subject to such. But the Apostles who went out to the four corners of the earth, did so to preach that The Kingdom of God is at hand", as not being time sensitive and place specific for if it was, it would NOT be eternal.

God signified it and sent it like a letter to all the ekklisia. For even at the end of all the testimonies new and old were ended with "seal not the prophecies of this book for the time is at hand.

What this means is that christian-dom as a whole has run it's course. As Christ stated "I have not come to bring peace to the world but to start a fire, and how I am ... till it is set ablaze. That scripture only has relevance in the context of which it is written, of the invisible. That all the law and prophets era along with all the parables were just tools we use to understand invisible realities that are not time sensitive or area specific. For if it were, then the message that The Kingdom of God is at hand, would not be because it would have limitations but it does not. The limitations belongs to us. Our shortfall is in the spot of our understanding.

For those who ascribe any future relevance as needing to happen, meaning prophecy and end times, another time of the Jews, are doing so without authorization. Meaning, without the authors permission. In this case the Creator God's. Why? Because you have to re-use expired texts to do so. Think about it.

The scriptures are an evacuate plan into the spirit. This is us ceasing from our works as God did from His, as all things being deposited to our eternal account. We cannot add to it or take away from it. Just accept it or reject it. This is the gospel. The gospel message is about God's Only Begotten. It is His story, and of no coincidence, it is "history". He is the object of the vernacular of God. That those who are truly in Christ are in the rest and with the rest of God of those who have accepted the Gospel in its entirety. No loose ends, no open ended phrases or time frames. No incomplete or unexpired texts.
