

Breaking Barriers to the next Eshlon and Platue in the Spirit

Breaking Barriers to the next Eshlon. Our climbing up in the spirit.

With any private or public new title or ranking, there are steps, levels and grades awarded for new accomplishments. That before the accolades are given, the contestants or candidates are tried as to whether they obtained the necessary growth in character to be worthy of the new position, responsibility or title.

Think of the words of Christ before His journey back to the Father. He prefaced it like this. He said "Father I have accomplished the work you have given me to do. I have declared your words to those whom you have given me out of the world and they have kept them".

He knew this because the words He planted in them (and us) came back out of their mouths when they needed them to be true for themselves. This is how we do the works of the spirit. At our Fathers behest, we call due the promises we find throughout scripture.

James said to "recieve the engrafted word which is able to save your soul". The engrafted word is the new you. It is a plug in and play.

It is through a succession of hearing a word or concept of God, recieving that word sown into your heart and re-scripted in your mind. Then to have that word tested in us by trial, to remain in tact. It survived the fire you went through, so you get to keep it as a permanent feature.

Upon retaining and trying that word against the odds and the evidence. Then holding firm to that word for a breakthrough in that barrier of doubt you are cancelling out with these tools, that you receive something new from God. This is the place of faith. "For one must first believe God is real and that He rewards those who diligently seek Him". This is the seeking, the pressing in to obtain our inheritance spelled out in scripture. The Father has held nothing back for a future event.

The collection of these words, provisions and promises that were sown into our hearts, to remain there through the test of the firey trial that tries us.

If you remember the Parable of the seed sown on shallow ground? The enemy came along and ate them for they were not able to take root to bare fruit. Do not be counted as such. Water them and soak them. Hold them dear to your heart, for they shall bare fruit in due time, the proper time and the right time.

It is a collection of these victories of surviving the fire through these trials, these appointments given to us by the Father, that these become the new you. "Old things pass away and all things become new" in this way. This is the process of a continuous re-newal.

A new strength, a new gifting and a new empowerment. The collection of these are to become a patch work for a covering or garment. Like Joseph had a coat of many colors. So do we. And it keeps getting more colorful.

Like Jacob put on Esau. To the Father, he looked like Esau, he smelled like Esau, and he talked like Esau. So his father rewarded Jacob like he was Esau. Jacob inherited everything. We know this because Esau cried that there was not even a morsel left for him. He represents your old person. The new you gets everything.

Similarly God the Father rewards us as if we are the Only Begotten because we put on what He has of Himself of our shared inheritance. We talk like Christ, we are a sweet savor like Christ and sound like Him because His name is the word of God, the word we employ.

What the Father has, the Son has. And what the Son has, we have as joint heirs even now. This is what it means to be in Christ is to be seen by the Father with the very words of The Son.

As we see at the cross where Christ's garments were taken off of Him and divided among the guards. We know that His body was broken for us, but also His outer attire was taken from Him for our retrieval as well. Those guards were not able to keep them. They were meant for us. The gospel gives us "every spiritual blessing from the Heavenly places". Ephesians 1.

We can understand that the apostles and the prophets had obstacles to discredit, or steal the concepts that were stitched into their hearts and grafted into their minds to become superior to what they were before that moment. Same as us.

This was their upgrade for their opporating system of godliness, meaning God-like-ness, a replica.

You see the Savior knew the disciples kept the Fathers words because He heard them use those words as if they were their own. An Heir is a co-owner.

And this doesn't come easy. That's the reason for the test. To examine such a one for a trustworthiness to be able to keep the new empowerment. And because God the Father accomplished all His works through His word, we are given that model for us to understand our empowerment to do the same. That is why the Son said "if you say to this mountain, be thou moved into the sea, it shall be done for you, to nudge us on for greater expectations of greater works for greater results and greater rewards. This is what pleases the Father. We take Him at His word, and speak them like they never wear out, because they don't. To God be the Glory.

Stagnation in growth comes from avoiding growth and the testings. But with these testings is certain resistance. You must press in. You must persist and persevere.

Think of it like this. With H₂O, there are platforms of resistance as the temperature rises or falls.

For water to transfigure into ice, or ice into water, it takes more than one degree. In other words, we know that 32 degrees is the base point, however ice will not really melt until it is above 32 degrees and water will not freeze until it is below 32. 32 is not the transition point. It is the barrier. The transition takes more than one degree to perform the transition. There is a greater resistance in a make up change.

And so too with water to steam. With each transformation or transfiguration into another element there is greater resistance. Therefore to break the barrier to transform to another form, like ice to water, or water to steam. There is more resistance and it takes more momentum and patience to pass through the barrier.

Think of it like poking a hole through a piece of plastic. The pressure has to be consistent and pass beyond the contact point long enough to break the barrier to make it to the other side. That once broke the barrier is broken, now you can now pass back and forth without the barrier because of the break through.

Kind of like traveling to a new place. The first time is the hardest. But once you know the way, you can come and go without thinking about it.

So too with our testings in the spirit of our mind and of our resolve. With the acquisition of each new empowerment from the Father, He has it tested with a pressure of resistance.

Hence "think it not strange concerning the fiery trial which is to test you as though some strange thing has happened to you. But rejoice to the extent, that as you are a partaker of the sufferings, so shall you participate, or own, the glory that follows". Meaning; what follows the break through of the excess pressure to go through the barrier, gives you a new empowerment.

Such is the way of our faith. Our faith is the application of the words God has stitched into us to be more like Him. This is how we do the works of the Son who did the works of the Father.

But do not fear here because He set you up for success. He never gives us a task He hasn't given us the tools for.

As the Son says to the Father concerning us "Father they have kept your word". He knew this because up till then and during the test, clean through to the other side of breaking the test barrier, your resolve to stand firm in a promise, He brought you through to a new empowerment. You own something new from Him and of Him that is in yourself that is invisible. No one can take this from you. This is the new you. You can't see it, you can't show it, you can't take it off and hang it in the closet. You always have it. This is the new you and no one can take it. And as He said "in that day ask whatever you desire and it shall be done for you". This is that day.

Paul showed us this in Acts 27 with the voyage through that storm that are that boat.... They lost everything but the lives of people. So that shows you what you can apply Gods word to. Your souls, your invisible parts. That is why we are instructed "in your patience (and your perseverance) to possess ye your soul." But you are not alone. You have the unction of the Holy Spirit we call "the still, soft voice". For God has said "I will never leave you or forsake you". And "Lo I am with you always, even through out the ages". This includes the testings and trials. So know this, you are set up for success. These are your skirmishes for your empowerments. Your transferring from here to there, from reliance on NOT the flesh but the spirit. For these tests? It is just you and God. And the reward? God. God-like-ness. This is the gift to you. For you to have a new self like His self. This is why it is said "think it not strange concerning the fiery trial that is to try you as though some strange thing has happened. But rejoice to the extent that as you participate in these things, so too you participate in the glory that follows".

For this reason we are those Glory's. God is the Father of Glory's and He has brought us through. Glory to God our Father.

For this reason the Father spoke through Isaiah saying "So shall My word be that goes forth from My mouth;
It shall not return to Me ^[c]void,
But it shall accomplish what I please,
And it shall prosper in the thing for which I sent it."

Why? Because His word goes back to Him with us in it. We fill that void. We are His desired accomplishment.

When Christ told the disciples while drinking wine at the last supper "I desire to drink this new with you in the Kingdom". This is the new wine and this is The Kingdom and we are His desire and we are complete in Him who is head over all principalities and powers". This is our empowerment. In this way "old things have passed away and all things become new.

But you have to persevere through the barrier. This is the new you. In this way...

The Kingdom of God, is still, at hand. Use these tools to climb out of the crud of this age and clamour up the things that are said for this is Jacobs ladder, the access to the city of our God. Amen!
